

KIDNAPPING

CAITLAN CONNEMARA COLEMAN

October 10, 2012
Maidan Wardak Province, Afghanistan

Caitlan and Joshua as seen in a video released in late August 2016

Caitlan, Joshua, and their children as seen in a video released in December 2016

DESCRIPTION

Aliases: Caity Coleman, Caity C. Coleman, Caity Coleman-Boyle, Caity Boyle, Caitlan Boyle

Date(s) of Birth Used: November 2, 1985

Place of Birth: Titusville, Florida

Hair: Brown

Eyes: Brown

Height: 5'5" (167 cm)

Weight: 150 pounds (68 kg)

Sex: Female

Race: White

Citizenship: United States

Languages: English, possibly Spanish

Scars and Marks: Coleman has a small birthmark approximately the size of a dime underneath her skin on her right or left wrist; the right nostril of her nose is pierced; and she possibly has acne scarring on her face.

NCIC: M330984554

REMARKS

It is believed that Caitlan Coleman gave birth to two children while in captivity. Caitlan was six months pregnant when she was taken, and gave birth to her first son, Najaeshi Coleman-Boyle, in December of 2012. Caitlan gave birth to another son, Dhakwoen Coleman-Boyle, in the summer of 2015. Caitlan Coleman suffers from autoimmune hepatitis, but was not taking medication.

DETAILS

Caitlan Connemara Coleman and her husband, Joshua Boyle, are alleged to have been kidnapped by Taliban militants in Afghanistan on or about October 10, 2012 while traveling through Maidan Wardak Province, Afghanistan. Coleman, Boyle and their two children are likely being held somewhere within the Afghanistan/Pakistan region.

If you have any information concerning these individuals, please contact your local FBI office, or the nearest American Embassy or Consulate.

Field Office: Washington D.C.